Attachment A

Scope of Work

Rhode Island Housing (“Agency”) seeks to build a list of qualified temporary staffing agencies to provide temporary employees to the Agency on an as-needed basis. This will be a non-exclusive engagement in which entities will be selected on a rotating basis, subject to the Agency’s need. The Agency’s business primarily relates to mortgage origination and servicing (residential and commercial) and the administration of housing assistance programs.

The Agency typically has need for one to three qualified persons per month to temporarily assist in various divisions when there is a staff shortage due to employee leave, termination, or other event which results in a position becoming vacant for a period of time. This has the potential to cause business disruption due to slowed productivity, loss of specialized skills, and division of scarce departmental resources. Having a trusted source of qualified, experienced temporary candidates at the ready is the best way to assure business continuity until a more permanent solution presents itself.

To this end, in the event of such a vacancy, the Agency seeks entities with the ability to present to the Human Resource department on demand, or within a 24 hour period, the professional resumes of 3 or more of highly skilled, in some cases specialized, candidates for review by the Agency. At time of presentation, the hourly bill rate for the candidate, which must reflect all fees associated with their placement within the Agency, will also be communicated to a representative of Human Resources.

The selected entities must further be willing to make selected candidates available for in-person interviews with hiring managers and other representatives of the Agency, where requested, and must additionally have the capacity to conduct pre-employment criminal background checks on all candidates selected to temporarily work with the Agency. The selected entities will serve as liaison between the temporary employee and the company in the event any disciplinary action is needed, and must also be willing to recall the temporary employee at any time and for any reason, at the discretion of the Agency.
