Re: Minimum Thresholds Rent & Updated Utility Allowances

Date: December 1, 2017

The Minimum Rent for Thresholds Units has been adjusted to $237 to reflect the cost-of-living increase of 2.0 percent for Social Security and Supplemental Security Income beneficiaries beginning January 2018.

Tenant Rents will be established at the greater of:

- the minimum rent as defined below

(Thresholds Grant Agreement Section 9: For each Unit, total rent including utilities, shall not exceed thirty percent (30%) of the Client's gross household income, but a minimum monthly rent may be set, such that the total rent including utilities, is thirty percent (30%) of the current monthly Social Security Disability payment per month.)

OR

- 30% of a household's gross monthly income

If tenants pay their own utilities you must deduct the appropriate utility allowance from their gross monthly rent (the greater of the minimum rent or 30% of gross monthly income).

I have enclosed Rhode Island Housing's most recent utility allowances, effective January 1, 2018. The 2018 Minimum Thresholds Rent and the utility allowances should be used immediately for underwriting applications, February 1, 2018 for new lease-ups, and March 1, 2018 for annual and interim recertifications. If you use the utility allowance of the Housing Authority in your municipality, please ask them for an updated copy and forward it to my attention. They should also be placed in tenants' files for monitoring purposes.

If you have any questions, you may contact me at 450-1347 or via e-mail at dbenjamin@rihousing.com.

HOUSING TYPE DEFINITIONS

Building Type

Single Family: A detached residential structure consisting of one unit

Duplex: A detached residential structure consisting of two units

Row/Town Houses: A single unit residential structure that is connected to a similar structure by a common sidewall with an individual exterior unit entrance

Low-Rise/Garden Apartment: A multi-unit residential structure consisting of two and one-half floors or less with a common hall entrance

Mid/High-Rise Apartment: A multi-unit residential structure consisting of three or more floors with or without Elevators

Common Building: A detached non-residential structure

Group Home: A group home is a state-licensed facility intended for occupancy by elderly persons and/or persons with disabilities. The group home consists of residents' bedrooms, which can be shared by no more than two people, and a living room, kitchen, dining area, bathroom, and other appropriate social, recreational, or community space that may be shared with other residents. No more than 12 persons may reside in a group home. This includes assisted and unassisted residents, and any live-in aides.

Manufactured Home: A manufactured home is a manufactured structure, transportable in one or more parts, that is built on a permanent chassis, is designed for use as a principal place of residence, and meets housing choice voucher program HQS. Program provisions for the leasing of manufactured homes apply when the family leases the manufactured home unit and the manufactured home space.

Congregate: Congregate housing is intended for use by elderly persons or persons with disabilities. It contains a shared central kitchen and dining area and a private living area for the individual household of at least a living room, bedroom and bathroom. Food service for residents must be provided.

Cooperative: Cooperative housing is owned by a nonprofit corporation or association, where a member of the corporation or association has the right to reside in a particular apartment and to participate in management of the housing.

Independent Group Residence: Group homes are small, residential facilities located within a community and designed to serve children or adults with chronic disabilities.

These homes usually have six or fewer occupants and are staffed 24 hours a day by trained caregivers.

Single Room Occupancy: (SRO) A single room occupancy unit provides living and sleeping space for the exclusive use of the occupant, but requires the occupant to share sanitary and/or food preparation facilities.

Shared Housing: Shared housing is a single housing unit occupied by an assisted family and another resident or residents. The shared unit consists of both common space for use by the occupants of the unit and separate private space for each assisted family.

Peer Recovery and Family Support Services

Peer Recovery Support Services

Based on the fundamental principles of recovery, Peer Support Services (PSS) are specialized, therapeutic interactions between current or former consumers of behavioral health services and individuals in the process of recovery. The peers are trained and certified to offer support and assistance to those in the recovery and community-integration process. Peer support is intended to inspire hope in individuals that recovery is not only possible, but probable. The service is designed to promote empowerment, self-determination, understanding, coping skills, and resiliency through mentoring and service coordination supports.

Family Support Services

Family support services are for those who know, or have known, a feeling of desperation concerning the mental health problem of someone very near to them. When you seek support, very often you can learn that you are no longer alone, but among people who understand the problem as only a few others can.

How do I contact an advocate for mental health services?

Rhode Island Office of the Mental Health Advocate

The Office of the Mental Health Advocate is an independent State agency staffed by attorneys who provide an array of free legal, investigative, and advocacy services, regardless of age, to:

- prevent inappropriate admissions to psychiatric facilities
- to protect the rights and enhance the dignity of persons in mental health treatment and inpatient substance abuse treatment
- reduce the stigma associated with mental illness
